

Calling
by David Briscoe

*In the simmer of sunshine
And blind of night
In leftovers of rain
And flagging leaves
As a squirrel arcs across the lawn
And the slug oozes along
In normal moments of nature
Where nothing unusual happens
Where the commonplace and Taken-for-granted occur
It is always there
Calling*